Using AppleWorks 5/ClarisWorks 4/5®

Vol. 207 Issue 1

Using the Draw module of AppleWorks to create newsletters gives more flexibility than using the Word Processor. Its use is similar to PageMaker® with movable, re-sizeable column segments that may be linked.

This page contains an example of a two page Newsletter containing three columns: one of which is used primarily for white space. The white space is also used to place a small photo of the author and a place for the graphic on page two in which to extend. This is only one of a myriad of newsletter formats one could design.

Two page Newsletter layout plan — three columns.
